NEW CLASS ON LEADERSHIP

Beginning in the Spring Quarter, the Auditorium Class will be studying the matter of Church Leadership. I will teach the class, which will consist of those who usually attend the Auditorium Class along with the Teen Class.

Since I will be in Medina, OH for a Teachers Workshop the first weekend in March, this new class will actually not begin until March 9. Chris Bragwell will use March 2 to conclude the class he is now teaching on Isaiah.

Few things are more important to success in any human undertaking than good leadership. Pat Summitt, who knows a little about being successful, said: "You don't win consistently without good team leadership." Even in the church, good leadership is the key to success.

This means that a study of Church Leadership is important at any time, but it is especially important at this time in the history of the Seymour congregation. We are working toward the time when we can appoint elders and deacons, and this class should help us better understand leadership in general but especially as it relates to the church.

I appeal to you who read these words to make every effort to attend Bible class on Sunday mornings for this vital study. Together, we will explore such things as: A Working Definition of Leadership, Styles of Leadership, Leadership and Communication, and Biblical Qualifications for Elders and Deacons.
