ANNOUNCEMENT FROM OUR ELDERS

Our elders regretfully announce that Jeff Cronin has stepped down from being one of our deacons.

In a text to the elders, Jeff said, “I have thought about this quite a lot lately, and I feel that at this time I want to step back from being a deacon and my duties within the church. I want to focus on my discipleship and being a good member of the church. I have been struggling lately on a personal level and feel this is the best for me and my family as well.”

Jeff has been dealing with several health problems, including back problems, which can be debilitating. He has also just recently begun a new job.

While we regret the necessity of this decision, we understand Jeff’s need to step away for a while from his duties with the church for personal reasons. He will, of course, continue to participate in our services and church activities.

Jeff has served well as a deacon, and we appreciate his dedication to the Lord in general and to this congregation specifically.

Please keep him and his good family in your prayers, and be sure he knows that he is loved and appreciated at Seymour.
