A HANDMADE CARD AND MORE

The last couple of weeks, our elders, deacons and preacher have received handmade cards from several of our younger children. In addition to the cards, last Wednesday evening we all received a bag of goodies.

The cards are being prepared in their Bible class. They are being taught who our leaders are and what they do. In addition, they are being taught to appreciate the men who give their time and talents to serve this congregation.

As one who has been on the receiving end of the wonderful remembrances, I can tell you that they mean so much to us. In fact, one of the cards is laying on my desk as I type this article. It has a picture of a Bible, my name, and says, “thank you for preaching for the church.” That’s a keeper!

I was also reminded recently that we should pray for and express appreciation to the wives of these men. They are faithful helpers and encouragers.

Romans 13:7 says that honor should be given to those to whom it is due. On behalf of all of us on the receiving end of the cards and bags of goodies, let me give honor to the teachers who are teaching our children such a valuable lesson and to the children who are making the cards and giving them with excitement, and to our wives who stand by us as we serve.

By the way, though we might not have needed the candy, it was very good. I shared mine with Sierra, and she says, “Thank You!”, too.
