THE DAYS AFTER

Last Thursday was our national day of Thanksgiving. I trust it was a good day for each of you—a day of being together as family and enjoying a scrumptious meal and maybe a little football.

The next day was “Black Friday,” a day of shopping for many. The next day was Saturday, and today is Sunday, tomorrow is Monday, and on it goes.

What about these days, the days after Thanksgiving Day? Do we continue to be thankful, or do we turn our attention to others things and forget about being thankful?

Some have noted a specific thing for every day in November for which they are thankful. I like that, but what about every day in January, or July, or any other month?

I don’t know where I came by the following lines by John E. Anderson, but I believe they ask some challenging questions.

When Thanksgiving Day is over,
Do we give up giving thanks?
Forget what God has done for us
And rejoin the worldly ranks?

Is Thanksgiving just a holiday?
No work and too much food,
Which helps to change our waistline,
But not our attitude?

Or does it serve its purpose
To remind us what God has done;
How He gave us life and substance;
How He gave us His dear Son?
